

Burning something into ash.

Using data to present the Beginning and end of life

In my perspective, all thing in this world are algorithm and data, include human's emotions, consciousness, feeling, social skills, all kind of senses. Even the perception of time is algorithm. So in this pieces, I want to evoke audiences to think about the notion of time in the future cyber space. If we will never die in some day, what we will thinking about time.

Video:

<https://vimeo.com/388897780>

